Incident Response Management

Figuring out how to manage all of your incident response efforts? We've got you covered. Hive-IQ® gives your entire distributed team the sense of what, where, when between your technical and non-technical team. Hive-IQ automates all of your reporting, provides real-time situational awareness, informs your decision makers, and integrates your resources 24x7. When response time matters, our Nation relies on your ability to move at the speed of need.

What does it do?

Real-time Situational Awareness

Seamless workflow between people and technology brings the whole team together allowing you to focus on the big picture.

Data to Decisions Faster

Integrate your enterprise tools to automatically surface insights designed to help leaders understand the big picture.

Align Strategic Priorities

Cyber security requires decisions to move at the speed of need reducing gaps in your secure enterprise.

Improve Team Performance

Knowledge management, complete mission situational awareness, and smarter collaboration makes sense.
Supercharging How Teams Work Together

Managing multiple teams and their technology is difficult. Hive-IQ® automates report management, project workflow, and tasks between cyber teams. We help you build a comprehensive view of what the entire cyber team is working on and when. Let your team do what they already like doing, and we'll turn that workflow into actionable, manageable insights.
